Dear TCCC to Rev Sekong Lim Christmas 2021

Last year, among my Christmas mail there was a letter that emphasized being thankful. Indeed, there is so much to be thankful for. Let me share a few of the many things that I am very thankful for this Christmas, and always.

I am very thankful for my family; they are all so good to me. One of my daughters from USA managed to visit me for my mid-October birthday, and two of my sons with their spouses came in July. Both times my other daughter with her husband joined us. On the other hand, my (only) sister from Saskatoon needed to cancel her flights twice due to COVID infections at Menno Place – thus far, I'm spared. I'm grateful!

I'm also thankful for my many relatives and friends, for my health (so valued at my age), daily food, a warm bed, etc (how many in this world long for this!). I'm so grateful for my/our Administration, my church and country – both with their local, regional, national and international levels and leadership; and for your many prayers. And many more “thank you's” could be added but I'll close with some that reflect “the reason for the season.” These selected phrases from Christmas carols express my thankfulness.

“On this day, angels sing... Christ is born on earth to save us.”

“O Holy Child of Bethlehem, descend to us we pray...”

“From heav'n above to earth I come, to bear good news to ev'ryone...”

And closing with, “... till the morning, saw the GLORY...”.

May you and yours experience and give thanks for this GLORY!

Merry Christmas
